Millie said the purpose of this conference call meeting was to review and make changes to the draft policy paper and recommendations. She said she sent the paper to a few non-governmental organizations and stakeholders for review. She said after the committee finalizes its paper it will be presented to the Health Disparities Council, which may make some changes (typically minor) before approving final text for the action plan.

Committee members reviewed the paper and provided suggestions for changes.

Millie said she will send a second draft out to committee members for final review.

Steven Gilbert asked whether the public may attend the Council's meeting when the recommendations are presented. Millie confirmed the public is welcome at each Council meeting and added that committee members are welcome to come testify. She'd keep them informed as she learned more.
